Independent Auditors' Report

Board of Directors
Center for International Environmental Law, Inc.
Washington, DC

We have audited the accompanying statements of financial position of the Center for International Environmental Law, Inc. (CIEL) as of June 30, 2006 and 2005 and the related statements of activities and cash flows for the years then ended. These financial statements are the responsibility of CIEL's management. Our responsibility is to express an opinion on these financial statements based on our audits.

We conducted our audits in accordance with auditing standards generally accepted in the United States of America. Those standards require that we plan and perform the audits to obtain reasonable assurance about whether the financial statements are free of material misstatement. An audit includes examining, on a test basis, evidence supporting the amounts and disclosures in the financial statements. An audit also includes assessing the accounting principles used and significant estimates made by management, as well as evaluating the overall financial statement presentation. We believe that our audits provide a reasonable basis for our opinion.

In our opinion, the financial statements referred to above present fairly, in all material respects, the financial position of the Center for International Environmental Law, Inc. as of June 30, 2006 and 2005 and the results of its operations and its cash flows for the years then ended, in conformity with accounting principles generally accepted in the United States of America.

NOTES TO FINANCIAL STATEMENTS

June 30, 2006

1. Organization

Center for International Environmental Law, Inc. (CIEL) was founded in 1989 to bring the energy and experience of the public interest environmental law movement in the United States to the critical task of strengthening and developing foreign and comparative environmental law, policy, and management throughout the world.

2. Summary of significant accounting policies

Basis of accounting

CIEL prepares its financial statements on the accrual basis of accounting in accordance with generally accepted accounting principles. Consequently, revenue is recognized when earned and expenses are recognized when the obligation is incurred.

Cash and cash equivalents

All highly liquid investments purchased with a maturity of less than six months are considered cash equivalents.

Depreciation

All furniture and equipment are recorded at cost and are depreciated over their estimated useful lives, which is three years, using the straight-line method.

CENTER FOR INTERNATIONAL ENVIRONMENTAL LAW, INC.

NOTES TO FINANCIAL STATEMENTS

June 30, 2006

Net assets

In accordance with generally accepted accounting principles, net assets are classified into two categories; unrestricted and temporarily restricted. Unrestricted net assets are available for the general operations of CIEL, whereas temporarily restricted net assets arise from contributions, foundation and government grants of cash, or pledges to give cash in the future which are subject to donor-imposed stipulations as to their use for specific programs conducted by CIEL.

Grants

Grants are recorded as unrestricted or temporarily restricted support depending on the existence and/or nature of any donor restrictions. Support that is restricted by the donor is reported as an increase in temporarily restricted net assets and then reclassified to unrestricted net assets when the restriction is satisfied. Grants received under cost reimbursement arrangements are recorded as unrestricted revenue.

Functional allocation of expenses

The costs of providing various programs and other activities have been summarized on a functional basis in the statement of activities. Accordingly, certain costs have been allocated among the programs and supporting services benefited. During the years ended June 30, 2006 and 2005, indirect costs of $692,781 and $536,159 were recovered under the provisions of various restricted grants.

Use of estimates

The preparation of financial statements in conformity with U.S. generally accepted accounting principles requires management to make estimates and assumptions that affect the reported amounts of assets and liabilities and disclosure of contingent assets and liabilities at the date of the financial statements and the reported amounts of revenues and expenses and their functional allocation during the reporting period. Actual results could differ from those estimates.

CENTER FOR INTERNATIONAL ENVIRONMENTAL LAW, INC.

NOTES TO FINANCIAL STATEMENTS

June 30, 2006

Taxes

CIEL is exempt from federal and local income taxes under Section 501(c)(3) of the Internal Revenue Code on any net income derived from activities related to its exempt purpose. CIEL is taxed on net income from unrelated business activities. There was no income derived from unrelated business income during the years ended June 30, 2006 and 2005.

3. Foundation pledges

Foundation pledges receivable at June 30, 2006 and 2005 include amounts due in:

	2006	2005
Less than one year	$ 981,438	$ 830,000
One to three years	-	375,000
Total	$ 981,438	$ 1,205,000

No allowance for uncollectible pledges has been established since management of CIEL believes all pledges are fully collectible. Pledges due in one or more years have not been discounted because the amount of the discount would be immaterial.

4. Accrued vacation

At June 30, 2006 and 2005, $25,693 and $25,091, respectively, was included in accrued payroll expenses as a provision for accrued vacations.
