💡 More information on the UN Human Rights independent experts / mechanisms participating in the Joint Press Conference:

Isabelle Durant, Chair of the Expert Mechanism on the Right to Development. The Expert Mechanism on the Right to Development is a subsidiary body of the Human Rights Council providing thematic expertise on the right to development in searching for, identifying and sharing best practices with Member States and promoting the implementation of the right to development worldwide. It holds two annual sessions in New York and Geneva.

José Francisco Calí Tzay, Special Rapporteur on the rights of Indigenous Peoples; Attiya Waris, Independent Expert on foreign debt, other international financial obligations and human rights; and David Boyd, Special Rapporteur on the issue of human rights obligations relating to the enjoyment of a safe, clean, healthy and sustainable environment. Special Rapporteurs are part of what is known as the Special Procedures of the Human Rights Council. Special Procedures, the largest body of independent experts in the UN Human Rights system, is the general name of the Council's independent fact-finding and monitoring mechanisms that address either specific country situations or thematic issues in all parts of the world. Special Procedures' experts work on a voluntary basis; they are not UN staff and do not receive a salary for their work. They are independent from any government or organization and serve in their individual capacity.
